

Contents

Preface	page vii
Symposium participants	x
 Part I. Challenging problems
1 Critical challenges for natural language processing MADELEINE BATES, ROBERT J. BOBROW, and RALPH M. WEISCHEDEL	3
 Part II. Building a lexicon
2 The contribution of lexicography B. T. SUE ATKINS	37
3 The contribution of linguistics BETH LEVIN	76
4 The contribution of computational lexicography BRANIMIR K. BOGURAEV	99
 Part III. Semantics and knowledge representation
5 Events, situations, and adverbs ROBERT C. MOORE	135
6 Natural language, knowledge representation, and logical form JAMES F. ALLEN	146
 Part IV. Discourse
7 Getting and keeping the center of attention REBECCA J. PASSONNEAU	179
8 Surface structure, intonation, and discourse meaning MARK STEEDMAN	228
 Part V. Spoken language systems
9 Prosody, intonation, and speech technology JANET PIERREHUMBERT	257

Part VI. Conclusion

10	The future of computational linguistics MADELEINE BATES and RALPH M. WEISCHEDEL	283
	Author index	289
	Subject index	292